

June

Has it occurred to you, folks, that right now we are passing through the most glorious month of the year—the month when Albuquerque looks and feels her best?

The poet has asked, "What is so rare as a day in June?" To which the comedian has replied, "Two days in June." But the fact remains, regardless of foolishness, that in this blessed old burg we have thirty days each of which is rare enough to make us wish it were longer and that there were more of them.

It is the month of roses, of brides and of sweet girl graduates—the month when genial warmth gives a glow of sympathy and of kindness to all the world—when the winter's chill that is behind us and the burning heat that is ahead are alike forgotten, in the sheer joy of living.

Let us enjoy it while it is here, for it will not be here long.

BAKER-LEAVENWORTH.
One of the prettiest weddings seen in Albuquerque in a long time was that of Miss Ina Baker and Mr. P. E. Leavenworth, which was solemnized Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, Rev. Hugh A. Cooper officiating.

The ring ceremony of the Presbyterian church was used, the Mendelsohn and Lohengrin wedding marches being beautifully played by Mrs. Hardin. The bride was beautiful in white, embroidered organdy with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and pink bride roses. She was attended by Miss Pauline Sewell, who wore blue silk, with a dainty chiffon picture hat, and carried pink bride roses. The groom was attended by Mr. A. B. Anderson.

After the ceremony at the church the bride party and a few intimate friends went in automobiles to the Alvarado, where a wedding supper was served. Taft hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, a French basket of pink bride roses forming a charming centerpiece, while streamers of pink tulle were festooned around the table. Individual French lanterns filled with nuts and pink herbivorous packages of confetti were at the plate of each guest. A seven course dinner was served. Immediately afterwards the bride and groom left on their honeymoon trip amid a shower of rice and confetti. They will be at home in this city after July 20.

The guests of the wedding supper besides the bride party were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baker, of Elwood, Ind.; Miss Nellie Acker, of Noblesville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers, Mrs. S. G. Sewell, Miss Jane Herron, Miss Jean Arnot, Mr. George Arnot, Mr. Robert Sewell, Mr. George F. Mitchell and Mr. B. L. Repp.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baker, of Elwood, Ind., and is a graduate of the Elwood high school and the Indiana state university and a member of the Kappa Kappa Kappa sorority. She has lived in Albuquerque for about a year, during which time she has been a teacher in the city schools, and enjoys an enviable popularity. Mr. Leavenworth, who came to this city about two years ago from Poplar Bluff, Mo., is also a well known educator, being at the head of the commercial department of the Albuquerque high school. He has a wide circle of friends whose congratulations are being extended to him.

HINDS-SEARS.
Miss Ollie Hinds, of this city, and Mr. Alonso Sears, of San Marcial, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hinds, on South Walter street, Rev. C. T. Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating.

Just before the ceremony Miss Mabel Hinds, a younger sister of the bride, sang in a beautiful manner "On Promise Me." To the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march, played by Miss Vernice Bowers, the bride couple, attended by Miss Lucy Hinds and Dr. E. E. Thaxton, of Elston, took their places under an arch in the center of the double living-room, which had been arranged with palms, ferns, woodbine and roses, where the ceremony was performed. While the couple were receiving the congratulations of their friends, Laura Miller sang "I Love You Truly." From 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock a buffet lunch was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Sears left at 7:10 o'clock for a honeymoon trip to Denver, the Garden of the Gods, Ogden and Salt Lake City, to be gone until the latter part of the month. They will be at home to their friends after July 1.

The bride has lived in Albuquerque for about nine years and is thoroughly identified with the city, having attended the public schools, the University of New Mexico and the Albuquerque Business College. She is a devotedly popular and carries with her the good wishes of a host of friends. The groom holds a responsible position with the Santa Fe railroad at San Marcial and is a young man of excellent promise.

MRS. JACOBSON ENTERTAINS.
Mrs. J. P. Jacobson entertained Thursday afternoon for a number of her friends at the close of a delightful afternoon refreshments were served.

The guests included Mrs. E. E. Booth, Mrs. Ed Kneese, Mrs. W. C. Hinton and daughter, Mrs. Sam Wagner, Mrs. Murdoch, Mrs. C. M. Gorman, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. F. M. Heck, Miss Mae Beckwith, Mrs. John Venable, Miss Jessie Venable and Mrs. A. B. Werning.

MESA PARTY.
A delightful affair of the past week was a mesa party Thursday evening. The guests motored to Tijeras canyon in the cars of F. A. Hubbell, Jr., and Arthur Sick, taking lunch with them. An altogether enjoyable evening was spent and an all-round good time had.

Those composing the party were Mrs. Eleanor Vaughney, Miss Alberta Hawthorne, Miss Katherine Little, of Kansas City; Miss Helen Thurman of Georgetown, Ky.; Miss Kathleen Leonard, Messrs. Arthur Sick, Richard Woodson, Frank Hubbell, Jr., Jack McDonough and J. E. Goodell.

CHURCH SOCIAL.
The Presbyterian Ladies Aid society met in the parlors of the church Thursday afternoon for the first meeting of the year. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed, after which officers were elected for the ensuing year.

The officers chosen were as follows: President, Mrs. E. D. Sick; Vice-president, Mrs. H. L. Hayne; secretary, Mrs. G. L. Livingston; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Blakemore.

FLAG DAY AT ELKS CLUB.
Especially impressive exercises have been held by the local Elks club of Elks in celebration of Flag day, which was observed Wednesday. The members of all patriotic societies and the general public are invited to the services, which will be held at the Elks building at 6 o'clock in the evening. The following program will be rendered:

FREE MUSIC LESSONS.
Mrs. George H. Wheeler, a member of the philanthropic committee of the Fortnightly Music club, and of the musician's union, has announced her intention of giving free music lessons to any child showing talent in music whose parents are unable to pay for lessons.

Mrs. Wheeler's object is to give an opportunity to Albuquerque children who may possess talent to develop that talent and to secure the advantages of a good musical education, and there will no doubt be many to avail themselves of the generous offer of this gifted musician.

GIBSON-ALLEN.
A wedding of the past week of much interest was that Tuesday evening of Miss Grace Gibson to Walter Roy Allen at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William E. Zeiser on State avenue. The rooms were decorated in pink and white roses and palms.

At 5:30 o'clock the bride party entered to the strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Al Seel on the piano and Mr. Elmer Reich on the violin. During the ceremony they played very softly "I Love You Truly." Rev. Randolph Cook, pastor of the Christian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and Georgette crepe trimmed in silk lace and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and Cape Jasmine. The bridesmaids wore pink and white. The groom wore a suit of blue and white. The bride and groom were attended by their parents and a few intimate friends.

The bride is the daughter of Alderman Chas. G. Gibson, and having lived in Albuquerque for a number of years has many friends who wish her much happiness. Mr. Allen has lived here most of his life and is well known. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will be at home to their friends after July 1 at 317 South Eighth street.

NOTES OF SOCIETY.
Mrs. Frank Stortz, with her daughter, Miss Grace, and her son Frank, left Tuesday for Los Angeles, to spend the greater part of the summer.

Mrs. Frederick B. Howden, accompanied by six of her children, left Thursday for Long Island to occupy her summer home.

Mrs. George Arnot left Tuesday for Long Beach to spend the summer. She was accompanied by Miss Edith, Miss Betty and William. Miss Jean Arnot and her father will join the party at Long Beach later.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brooks were dinner hosts Friday evening in honor of Judge and Mrs. Ira Rothgerber, of Decer. After dinner bridge was played.

Mrs. Theodore S. Woolsey, Jr., was an informal hostess Thursday afternoon. There were two tables of bridge, a number coming later for tea. The guests numbered sixteen.

Mrs. P. T. Chase entertained informally at bridge Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Tijeras avenue. An enjoyable afternoon was followed by a two course supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Simms were dinner hosts last night at their home, 211 North Fourteenth street. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Clark M. Carr.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Spargo were hosts at a chicken dinner at Silva's Wednesday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl O. Haglund, who were married recently in El Paso, have returned to Albuquerque.

Mrs. Allen Austin, of San Antonio, Texas, and Mrs. Rita O'Hare, of London, England, stopped off in Albuquerque Friday and Saturday en route to California.

Miss Kathleen Long left Friday for a few days visit in Las Vegas.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Williams, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. Williams, to Mr. Leland R. Campbell, of Bedford, Ind., has been announced. St. Margaret's guild of the Episcopal church entertained Friday afternoon at a luncheon given at the home of Miss Annie Newhall, in honor of Miss Ruth Williams, one of its members, whose engagement to Mr. Leland R. Campbell has been announced.

Wilson, W. E. Sloan, S. K. Cotton, Misses Lucie Becker, Mettie Enderstine, Ruth Zeigler, Edith Zeigler and Florence Owen. A delicious salad course was served after the game.

Rev. J. A. M. Zeigler motored to Las Vegas this week to attend the Epworth League convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wetmore motored to Albuquerque Thursday.

Mrs. C. L. Baker entertained with bridge luncheon Monday morning in honor of Miss Teresa De Reamer of Fon Du Lac, Wis., who is visiting Mrs. L. C. Becker. A spirited game was played until high noon, when luncheon consisting of broiled spring chicken on toast, potato chips, lead tomatoes on lettuce, and iced tea was served. The prize for the highest score, ivory and lace fan, was won by Mrs. S. K. Cotton. The guest prize was a dainty landscape in water colors. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Baker's charming hospitality were Mesdames H. Jefferson, W. E. Sloan, Paul Dalles, L. C. Becker, W. E. Sloan, J. B. Becker Jr., C. N. Wilson, Hugh Wetmore, Frank Fischer, S. K. Cotton, Misses Lucie Becker, Mettie Enderstine, Ruth Zeigler, Frieda Becker and Teresa De Reamer.

Mrs. J. B. Becker Jr. and Miss Mettie Enderstine entertained Monday evening with a movie and fortune party in honor of Miss Teresa De Reamer. The guests were first taken to the home of Mrs. Becker, then to the home of Mrs. Becker, where tiny cards attached to a cord with each guest's name on it was presented to you as you entered with instructions to follow it to the end. There was found a prophecy and a prize. A delicious food course was served after which the guests would their way homeward, wondering if all things come true. Mrs. Becker and Miss Enderstine may congratulate themselves upon giving the most unique party ever given in Belen. Those invited were Mesdames Edna Le Brun, Lucie Becker, Jessie Mallow, Elsa Becker, Frieda Becker, Esther Lindenberg, Louisa Phil, Virginia Simmons, Ruth Zeigler, Frieda Zeigler, Florence Owen, Edith Zeigler, Mesdames L. CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW.

Dose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

:: About Books ::

It is a little over a year ago since Justus Miles Forman went to his cruel death on the doomed Lusitania. Shortly before he sailed he had finished "The Twin Sisters," and if anything were needed to give added poignancy to the memory of his death, it would be provided by this novel. Same, interesting, well balanced, "The Twin Sisters" presents an admirable picture of the side of New York society which is generally neglected. The foolish and scandalous and more or less disreputable members of that society are the ones romancers generally choose for their representatives. Mr. Forman gives us people well born and well bred, people to whom money and leisure have meant opportunity for travel and culture and the fostering of the gentler graces of life. Into the mouth of Sir Henry Berrill he puts the sentence which sums up a goodly portion of the book: "Simplicity and directness—strength are qualities of the soul, not of the body, and they can live and flourish in London or in Paris or in New York as well as in Wyoming."

When the story begins Diana Wayne and her father are traveling in Italy. There they have a chance encounter with Diana's mother, long separated from her husband, and with her twin sister Alice, neither of whom they have seen for about twelve years. During the interval Diana and her father have been living in New York and Mrs. Martin-Wayne in Florence. The upbringing of the two girls has been entirely different. Diana, in some measure through the influence of an older woman, a dead friend of her father's, has become straightforward, strong of body and brain and will and soul, hating "cowardice and being the cat, and all that sort of thing." Alice on the contrary, has had "an old fashioned education" in a narrow minded huckling community, made up of superannuated clergymen and soldiers and elderly invalids of both sexes. This accidental meeting of the four near Bellagio results in an agreement that Alice shall spend the winter in New York with her father and Diana, and so the twin sisters, who are in every way strangers to each other, are thrown suddenly into intimate relations.

We cannot in justice to the author reveal any more of his plot but it develops logically and naturally from the efforts of the various characters on one another—characters who are most of them real and many of them likeable people. Diana herself is adorable, fine and generous, loving to dance and to play a good time, but with plenty of ambition, high ideals, and nothing small or mean about her. Not faultless by a good deal, quite capable of losing her temper and speaking her mind with vigor and emphasis, but always sweet and sound and true.

The man who finally wins her is to be congratulated on his good fortune—a good fortune, moreover, which he almost deserves. The contrast between the two sisters is very marked and the story more interesting because of this. The whole novel is interesting from start to finish and it is with sadness that we lay it aside and know it is the last from Justus Miles Forman.

Other new books: "The Proving of Virginia," Campbell; "The Violin Lady," Campbell; "The Fiddling Girl," Campbell; "Betold the Woman," Harre; "Seventeen," Tarkington; "Side of the Angels," King.

William McGinnis, of Boulder, Colorado, the lecturer on Naval Art, accompanied by his daughter, and Mrs. Charles McGinnis, of Omaha, Neb., will be in Santa Fe on June 24, from Taos.
